- Installing the software

Connect the adapter and then allow Windows to search for the necessary driver on the farallon diskette included with your NetLINE USB 10/100 Ethernet Adapter.
INSTALLING THE HARDWARE

1. Make sure your computer is on and running a correctly installed version of Windows 98 or 2000.

2. Connect the adapter’s Ethernet port to a 10Mbps or 100Mbps network device using a twisted pair 10Base-T or 100Base-TX cable.

3. Connect the USB cable attached to the NetLINE USB Adapter to the USB port on your computer or USB hub.
INSTALLING THE SOFTWARE

WINDOWS 98

1. After you connect the USB adapter, the Windows Add New Hardware Wizard will appear.

2. Select search for the best driver for your device and then click Next.

3. Windows will present the possible locations for the driver. Select your computer’s floppy disk drive.

4. Insert the Farallon diskette into your computer’s disk drive and click the Next button.

5. Windows will install the necessary files. You may be prompted for the Windows 98 CD or .cab files. If so, insert the needed Windows disk or enter the location of the .cab files on your computer.

6. The last screen tells you Windows has finished installing the software needed by the card.

7. Click the Finish button and restart the computer.
1. After you connect the USB adapter, the Update Device Driver Wizard will begin. Click Next.

2. Insert the Farallon diskette into your computer’s floppy disk drive.

3. When the Wizard finds the driver, a message may appear indicating that the driver does not have the Windows 2000 digital signature.

4. Click Yes to continue. The driver is designed to work with Windows 2000 and is fully compatible with the Windows 2000 operating system.
Verify the following for NetLINE USB 10/100 Ethernet Adapter operation:

- The link LED is lit.
- Connections are secure, and the correct cable type is being used.
- The driver software is installed.

NetLINE USB Adapter LED

The NetLINE USB 10/100 Ethernet Adapter LED can give you information about link status and network activity.

LED On: This indicator is lit green when the port is connected to a 100Mbps Fast Ethernet device, and lit yellow when connected to a 10Mbps Ethernet device.
LED Blinking: The indicator blinks green when data is received on the 100Mbps network and blinks yellow when data is received on the 100Mbps network.

LED Off: If the LED is off, and you have a network cable connected to the adapter, it may indicate one of the following:

- The network cable is not properly connected or is faulty.
- No 10Base-T or 100Base-TX device is connected at the other end of the network cable.
- The network cable exceeds 100 meters.
- The device is not receiving power from a USB port or there is no USB support on your system.
- You are using a straight-through 10Base-T or 100Base-TX cable to connect directly to another workstation.
- You are using a cross-over cable to connect to a hub.
